Mexico.-The Government of Comenfort is in a critical condition. The peace it has just concluded with the rebel Vidaurri, while relieving it of imme diate pressure in a single quarter, very signally illustrates its general weakness. A government which compounds with traitors cannot be strong or prosper s. It is a sad indication. We still have hope, however, that Comonfort, unembarrassed for the present by the revolutionary proclivities of Vidaurri, will promptly subdue all other revolutionists, and go forward at least for a time on his career of reform. The most formidable and threatening obstacle in his pathway at present is the insurrection at Puebla, upon which he has doubtless thrown his concentrated forces ere this. We hope and believe that he has done so with complete suc-

! Meanwhile, we have lost all faith in his ultimate success. Revolution in Mexico is a Hydra which puts forth two heads for every one crushed by the club of power. It would require a modern Hercules, assisthe is not, surely no other Mexican is. We doubt, indeed, if the whole of Christendom could furnish a demoralized and vicious Mexican masses to a higher plane of civilization. It is not, in fact, exactly a question of leadership. The fault is ingrained; it is wrought into the texture of the national character, and no strength or dexterity of mere administration can eradicate it. It is a question of general Frankfort and Louisville and Nashville Companie elevation, of silent, insensible progress, of political transfus , of time, under all the regenerating influences of the age.

The most that any Mexican government can do is to give as free scope as possible to these vitalizing influences; and this the government of Comonford has done in an eminent degree. But we apprehend that its days are numbered nevertheless. It has laid the foundations of true national progress, but we have no idea that it will be permitted to build the superstructure. It may have ascended Pisgah, but we do not expect to see it descend into the promised land. It has well nigh fulfilled its mission. It, in truth, could scarcely survive the various, active, and unsleeping opposition it encounters without a miracle. It is fiercely assailed in all quarters. Even Santa Anna, from the depths of his retirement in South America, has fulminated a burning manifesto against it-Santa Anna, who never stalks upon the stage of Mexican affairs but to play the part of the crab in the classic legend to the revolutionary Hydra of his country. He is again biting at the heels of Hercules. No doubt his head will be severely bruised, but Hercules will be overpowered. He may experience the fate of his exemplar, but Comonfort will hardly experience the fortune of his. No other result seems possible in the nature of

While, therefore, we are prepared to hear of Comonfort's success at Puebla, and to witness the continuance of his power for some months longer, we shall not be amazed to hear of his overthrow at any moment. It must come sooner or later. Revolution is the order of the day in Mexico, and the only order

BY BEATRICE.

There is a tidelike memory Which steals across my heart,
Which may not with the dew-drops flee, A thought, which like some foot-print made In embryo rocks, whose clay Receives the impression naught can fade. Nor time may wear away.

It oft times comes like zephyrs bland, Across some sun-browned plain; As to the summer parchéd land, The gently dropping rain; It leaves an odor 'mong the thorns, That wound my weary feet; Its rainbow still my sky adorus, My tearful gaze to meet,

There is a deathless memory, Whose urn, within my breast, Replenished must forever be In its abiding rest. I may not smile that this is so, Nor may I weep to see Its constant image—no, ah no!

A NEW ENTERPRISE-TOBACCO WAREHOUSE AT PORTLAND.—We understand that the establishment of a tobacco warehouse at Portland is contemplated by some of our citizens. We are gratified at this manifestation of enterprise and energy in that portion of the city. We have been surprised that such a movement was not made long ago. The only objection that has ever been made to it was that perhaps buyers would not go to Portland to attend sales. We do not think this is sufficient to counterbalance the manifold advantages to be realized. The buyers will congregate wherever sufficient inducements are offered to them, and the sales at Portland could be so arranged as not to interfere with those at the other warehouses in the city, while the facilities of access afforded by the Portland Railroad and omnibuses almost entirely remove this single objection. The establishment of the contemplated warehouse at Portland would be economical to both growers and buyers. A large amount of the tobacco brought to this market comes from Southern Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, and Illinois. It is brought through Portland almost always, and is taxed with drayage to the amount of a dollar or a dollar and a half per hogshead before it reaches the warehouse, and, if sold here for the Southern market, another drayage is added to the cost. If a warehouse was located at Portland, all of the tobacco which may come here from the sources mentioned will escape this double drayage when sold to be shipped South, and when sold to Eastern buyers at least one drayage will be avoided, for it may be forwarded from Portland eastward via the New Albany and Salem Railroad, at the same cost at which it can be sent from any other part of the city. The enterprise is worthy of consideration, and we hope it will be successful.

FUEL FOR THE POOR .- Winter is come and the supply of fuel in our city is still very scant. What there is of it is too costly to be procured by many whose means are limited. The price of coal places it entirely out of the reach of the poor, and there is danger that great suffering will ensue among those who have never before been exposed to such bitter want. Something should be done to procure such a supply of fuel as will provide for the poor during the winter. A charitable correspondent suggests ed by a modern Iolaus, to destroy the vital monster; that "our railroad companies ought to be solicited and it is no especial discredit to Mexico to say that to bring in a quantity of wood for them free of she possesses neither. Comonfort is a man of more charge to supply their great necessities until coal who are interested in the welfare of American agrithan average ability, and, we think, as pure a patriot can be obtained. If they will do so, the money as Mexico has produced, but we fear that he is not to purchase the wood can be easily procured among ully equal to the redemption of his country. And, if our citizens, who never refuse their aid to any henevolent object. A committee should be appointed to collect subscriptions, and the distribution of the leader great and powerful enough to carry up the wood could be given to the Relief and Employment Society.'

The suggestion is a good one. The railroads in other parts of the country have carried fuel for the poor free of charge to the cities to which they lead, and we have no doubt that the Louisville and will cheerfully do so whenever requested.

FROM MEXICO.-The New York papers contain difficulty had been arranged in the City of Mexico on the 14th of November. The Mexican Government has submitted to all and every condition asked by the British minister.

President Commonfort left the City of Mexico for Puebla on the 18th ult. He took with him fresh supplies of troops and ammunition. The general belief was that this revolution would soon be quieted. The Mexican man-of-war steamer Democrata, commanded by Capt. Munez, which lately left a Mexican port under very mysterious circumstances. and was presumed to have gone on a piratical cruise. is thought to be still cruising in the Gulf, though the general impression was, in Vera Cruz, that it was Munez's intention to join Walker in Nicaragua. The Government steamer Guerrero which was sent in pursuit of the Democrata, came up with her off the coast of Yucatan, and, after a short engagement, was forced to retire, having received a shot near the water-line. The Democrcata received no injury. The force of the Guerrero was far inferior to that of the Democrata.

CITY MATTERS .- It will be seen from the pro ceedings of the city council that Dr. Vaughan has introduced an ordinance for the erection of a house of refuge. There can be no question about the ne cessity for such an institution in this city, and we hope that it will receive the favorable consideration

Among other important matters disposed of by the general council was the passage of a resolution for receiving the bowldered part of Portland avenue and opening it for the use of the public.

The ordinance to change some of the 30-year bonds for the benefit of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad to one, two, and three-year bonds was passed.

On Thursday night last, our hosts of "Walker's," Messrs. Cawein and Kolhelpp, set out a magnificent wedding supper, which in taste and excellence surpassed all competition. Their parlors were the scene of great festivity upon the occasion.

LECTURES-THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN AS-SOCIATION .- The effort on the part of the members of the Association to secure a course of lectures for this winter meets, we are told, with much success, although not so much as it deserves. The system of popular lectures is an institution peculiar to the nineteenth century, and it is with pleasure that we see it introduced here. It is calculated to exert a powerful influence on the popular mind, either for good or for evil. Its appeals are made with all the fervor of impassioned eloquence, and the learning of laborious study. Heart speaks to heart, and mind to mind. There is no way in which truth can be so powerfully inculcated as by the direct appeals of the living orator. Indeed, error often seem to wear almost the semblance of truth when thus presented in fresh and vigorous and glowing terms It is needful, therefore, that so influential an institution should be well guarded; that it should be under the direction of men who have at heart the welfare of the community, and that it should be directed to the instruction of the people in truth and virtue as well as to afford amusement for the hour. The Association by which this effort is made is worthy to control these lectures, for, without sectarianism, its object is to exert a salutary moral influence upon the community. A course of popular lectures is one of the means which the Association has adopted to effect this purpose. The Association has a right to expect the support of our citizens in this commendable enterprise, and the low price at which they have placed the tickets for this course will enable almos every one to attend.

We hope this course of lectures will be entirely successful, and we also desire to draw attention to the Young Men's Christian Association as an institution in which our citizens should feel a great interest. It is designed to throw safe-guards around the youth of our city, and by social and religious influen religious without sectarianism-to draw them away from the haunts of vice and iniquity; by precept and practice to establish virtuous and moral conduct; and to give to the community upright citizens and honest tradesmen. Is there any parent who can look upon the thousand temptations of city life which lure young men away from habits of so briety and virtue and say that he has no interest in an Association like this? Or is there any merchant who can say, with the history of such men as Schuyler and Huntington and Little staring him in the face, that the commercial community has no need of an influence like this to shield and establish the character of our young merchants and our merchants' clerks? This Association appeals to men of every class, for its benefits are to all alike. It is under no sectarian influence, it has no denominational bias. It leaves the discussion of theology to engage in works of benevolence, and, with such noble ends in view, it is scarcely necessary to appeal to our citizens in its behalf. It is a duty that we owe to ourselves to sustain it with our means and to endeavor to widen its field of influence.

UNITED STATES AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY,-The fifth annual meeting of the United States Agricultural Society will be held at the rooms of the Smithsonian Institute, in the city of Washington, January 14th, 1857. Important business will come before the meeting. A lecture will be delivered on the application of Science to Agriculture, by Prof. Henry, of the Smithsonian Institution. Anothor lecture on the Grasses of the United States, will be given by Charles L. Flint, Esq., secretary of the Massachu setts State Board of Agriculture. The various agricultural societies in the United States are requested to send delegates to the meeting, and all gentlemen culture, who would promote a more cordial spirit of intercourse between the farmers in different portions

We hope that the meeting of the Southwester Agricultural Association to-day will take some action on this matter.

Thomas Lester and James Farley two of the white men submerged in the coal pits of Midlothian Chesterfield county, Virginia, have been recovered. Though very weak, they were still able to walk. The recovery of these two men has infused new hope in the bosoms of the friends of others, and extraordinary efforts will now be made to learn their fate, and to succor them if alive. Three white men Vera Cruz dates to November 20th. The English of the five originally supposed to be lost (not 12, as previously stated) and the seven blacks are now to be sought.

> The value of Chinese coolies in Cuba has gone up from $102 to $276 in five years, and four hundred and seventy-three were landed at Chucas lately. The contractors were about to put screw steamers or for the trade.

THE PROJECTED INSURRECTION. - The contem plated negro insurrection is pretty well squashed One negro, at one of the Iron Works in Tennessee said he knew all about the plot, but would die be fore he would reveal anything; and he did die under the lash, after receiving 750 lashes.

THE ORPHAN'S HOME.-We take great pleasure in seconding the suggestion made in the following, which we find in the Presbyterian Herald:

which we find in the Presbyterian Herald:

We learn, with pleasure, that it is proposed by the friends of this noble institution, to invite the benevolent public to make a "Donation Visit" to the Louiville Orphan's Home, on the Tuesday after Christmas, (December 30th.) There is no form of human suffering and destitution which appeals so strongly and so tenderly to the deepest feelings of our heart as that of orphanage. There is no other so emphatically commended to our sympathies by that God who calls himself the Father of the fatherless. It is the very type of our own orphaned condition as without God in the world. Every orphan is a living mement of our lost and wretched condition as sinners, and also of the grace that restores us to our Father in heaven. No season can be more appropriate for a substantial manifestation of pity and kindness for the orphan than that which commemorates the coming of the Son of God, through whom we orphans in the universe are made the children and heirs of God. We earnestly hope that all who see the invitation will go with some token of love for the fatherless and motherless children at the Orphan's Home. The institution is located on the Preston street plank road, less than a mile beyond Broadway.

EARTHQUAKE.—The shock of an earthquake was very sensibly felt in this place on Saturday last, at about half past nine o'clock p. m. The quaking of the earth lasted for the space of fully forty minutes causing the sash in the windows of the buildings trattle at a terrible rate and creating a pretty good racket generally. A second shock was experienced on the Monday morning following, at about three o'clock a. m.—Shawneetown Illinoisan, Dec. 13.

THE SLAVE CASE AT WASHINTON .- As the tele graph has reported the arguments of the Attorneys at Washington, in the case Scott and others, before the Supreme Court, it may be well to know the pre cise points at issue. They are here:

1st. Whether a free black man is a citizen of the United States, so as to be competent to sue in the Courts of the United States.

2d. Whether a slave carried voluntarily by his master into a free State, and returning voluntarily with his master to his home is a free man by virtue of such temporary residence; and

3d. Whether the eighth section of the Missouriact of 1820, prohibiting slavery north of latitude 36 deg. 30 min., is constitutional or not.

quirer of yesterday:

Unfortunate Occurrence—Two Men Shot—A Husband in Pursuit of his Wife.—We learn from a gentleman residing on the Lexington pike, forty miles from Covington, that a most unfortunate affair occurred in that vicinity a few days since. It appears that a Mr. Jones, of that place, cloped with the daughter of a neighbor named Bianchard, and after their marriage the daughter returned home to see her mother. She staid at home so long that her husband was led to suppose that she was forcibly detained by her father, so he procured the services of several friends, and, accompanied by them, he went to Mr. Blanchard's house on Sunday evening, for the purpose of bringing his wife away. As the party approached the house they were fired upon, and one of them was shot in the leg. They returned the fire. Mr. Blanchard was struck by a ball on the forehead, which fortunately glanced off, not however without inflicting a serious wound. Our informant adds that warrants have been issued for the arrest of the besieging party.

It appears that, while purchasing a ticket at the office, Mr. Whaley pulled out his pocket-book and took from it a five-dollar bill to pay his fare. The pocket-book contained all his money, and, having received his change, he returned the porte-monaic to the breast pocket of his coat. In a few minutes after, and just as he was entering the cars, he missed it, and gave the alarm. The doors of the building were at once closed, and a search instituted, but the robber had decamped. The river has commence falling. It had receded about an inch and a half last evening, when there were three feet ten inches water on the falls, and about seven feet in the canal. MEN AND TIMES OF THE REVOLUTION, or Memoirs of Elkanah Watson-Including journals of Travels in Europe and America from 1777 to 1842, with his Correspondence with Public Men, and Reminiscences and Incidents of the Revolution. Edited by his son, Winslow C. Watson. Second edition; with a portrait of the author, engraved on steel after the famous picture by Copley, and twenty-five wood engravings. New York: Dana & Co.; London: Sampson, Low, Son, & Co.

This book is a valuable contribution to American literature and history. If it were merely a series of novels it would be esteemed most interesting, and that interest in it should be greatly enhanced by the knowledge that it is entirely a recital of facts. Elkanah Watson was at the same time one of the most prominent and one of the most interesting men of the Revolution. From his truly interesting manuscripts, his son has selected the materials for this volume. The portraits of the patriot fathers are drawn from life and from intimate acquaintance and range from Franklin to Judge Livingston. These portraits are colored from the pages of Elkanah Watson's private journal, where he kept a regular record of the men and manners of the times in which

PAUL FANE, OR PARTS OF A LIFE ELSE UN-TOLD. By N. Parker Willis. New York: C. Scribner .- This novel bears the evident impress of Mr. Willis's peculiar vein of thought. His chosen field is among the light and trivial incidents of life. He has a deservedly high reputation for his apt and sparkling esssays upon arts and fashions, and the amenities and also the annoyances of polite life. A finished scholar, his treatment of subjects connected with the belles-lettres, and his fanciful and often brilliant descriptive powers have given him a high rank among fashionable journalists. In Paul Fane, he has given greater prominence to the little incidents of the artist's life than to great and thrilling events. It is evident that the novel was written with the purpose of teaching that a false position in society is the great evil of social life, and while there is a Willis complexion in all the personages introduced, there are some beautiful and finely drawn characters described. The female characters are particularly attractive, among whom Sybil Paleford is a most charming and loveable creature. This is the first regular novel that has been published by the author, who has been aptly styled the "Philosopher of Social Etiquette." will be extensively read, for Willis has hosts of admirers wherever the English language is spoken. GEOLOGICAL SURVEY OF KENTUCKY. - The first report of the State geologist is before us. It is a handsome royal octavo volume of 416 pages and contains much information for the farmer, the ironmaster, and the coal-land proprietor of our State. For the means appropriated and the time employed in this survey the report shows that a very large amount of faithful labor has been expended, and the results are of more importance, we believe, than have been obtained in any other State, in the same time and for the same amount of money. We feel assured that this expenditure, will be of great service and be returned in profit to the State many hundred fold. The book is a very valuable one, and we hope it will be judiciously distributed by the members of the Legislature, to whom it is being sent. It is too valuable to lie in dusty piles in the corners of lawoffices. We hope they will be distributed with dis-crimination by those who have this duty in charge.

We have seen:

NICARAGUA AFFAIRS.—The advices by the Tennessee let a little more light into the matter of Walker's present position and prospects. Though partially successful in his fights with the Costa Ricans, his losses, his want of provisions, and the small number of his adherents, who now seem to be composed entirely of Americans and Europeans, leave him in a very precarious and uncertain position. Activity and energy on the part of the united forces against him may compel him at once to fly to the sea-coast for escape. Prompt simplies of men, arms, and provisions may, however, enable him to assume the offensive and drive his opponents out of the country. The events of the last few weeks have been important. The Costa Rican army, to the number of 4,000, on the 7th of November, suddenly appeared at San Juan del Sur, the Pacific port of the Transit Company. The Americans there disavowed any connection with Walker and his designs, but they could get no guarantee of protection from the commander, especially as Capt. Fayseoux, of the Nicaraguan schooner Granada, then in the harbor, threatened to fire upon the Costa Ricans.

Capt. Fayesoux, of the Nicaraguan schooler Grandon, then in the harbor, threatened to fire upon the Costa Ricans. Subsequently, being assured that if he kept out of the harbor the Americans would be protected, he consented to remove and the Costa Ricans took possession of San Juan without molestation. They encamped in a strong position, about midway between San Juan and Virgin Bay, which position was very threatening to Walker, at Granada. Gen. Hornsby, on the 9th, started from Virgin Bay with 200 Americans and attacked the Costa Ricans. Though gaining some advantages, he failed to dislodge them and had to retire. Walker came down from Granada to his assistance, and the Costa Ricans retired to Rivas without an engagement. Walker had to keep his attention divided between this place and Granada, which he feared to leave unprotected, and, therefore, returned to the latter town; but, on the 15th of November, with 500 men, he marched for Massaya to attack the allies. The latter, taking advantage of his absence, sent 700 men against Virgin Bay. Walker divided his force, sent 200 men to Virg. Bay, and himself attacked Massaya. Here the Grand Plaza proved a stumbling block, for, after two days' fighting, he was unable to take it. Walker blew up a portion of the town and returned to Granada with the loss of 70 men in killed and wounded. He determined now to abandon and destroy Granada and concentrate his forces at Virgin Bay.

in killed and wounded. He determined now to abandon and destroy Granada and concentrate his forces at Virgin Bay.

He left the duty of transporting the artillery, munitions, stores, &c., to Col. Heningson. But the troops indulged in so many excesses during the burning of Granada that the allies came down upon and surrounded Heningsen, and he is now besieged in achurch in Granada. Walker had previously removed his sick, wounded, and the American women and children from Granada to the Island Ometepe in Lake Nicaragua, but the report is that the natives had risen and massacred them sli, about three hundred persons. Walker himself is on board a steamer, sailing between Granada and Virgin Bay, to keep out of the way of his enemies and be ready to receive the assistance he books for by some of the transit steamers.

All Walker's forces consist of 400 men under Heningsen, besieged in Granada, 250 men under Col. Jacques, garrisoning Virgin Bay, and 100 at the two forts of Scrapfari and fort Collis—in all 750 men. This is all that is left him out of over 5,000 men who have gone from this country to Join his standard. About three hundred recruits from New Orleans and New 1 ork are ascending the San Juan river to Join him. Some of these are the young men who were recruited in Philadelphia, and left this city by one of the recent departures. Their prospects are rather gloomy, for, whatever their intentions were on starting from this city, they will have to fight for their lives in Nicaragua. The allies appear to be moving cautiously, and hemming Walker in very closely, and he will be a dexterous leader to extricate himself and maintain his footing in the country.

THE PRODUCTION OF GOLD AND THE WANTS OF Business.—When the gold fields of California and Australia were discovered, but especially when the discovery of the latter was added to that of the former, many people, and wise people too, began to speculate upon what would be done with all the gold. At least it was supposed that so much of it would enter into the currency of the world as to drive out paper currency, and that, instead of being a mere base for banking, as it had been before, it would in a great measure supersed banking, be would in a great measure supersede banking—be sufficient in itself to do the business of the world. The present state of money affairs, abroad and at home, is a curious commentary upon such specula-tions—the rate of interest in London and Paris being 7 per cent. and at home about 9, with a larger pa-per circulation on both sides of the water than ever existed before.

On the 13th of last month, the notes in circula-On the 13th of last month, the notes in circulation of the Bank of France amounted to $120,000,000 on a specie base of $33,000,000; the notes of the Bank of England amounted to $105,000,000 on a base of $47,000,000; and of the Irish banks $36,000,000 on a base of $12,000,000, while the banks of this country, according to Mr. Guthrie's report, have a circulation of $195,000,000 on a specie base of $70,000,000. Yet with all this paper circulation, the great complaint is that there is not sufficient currency for the business, and hence the high rates of interest.

of course it is now well enough understood that the great influx of gold, combined with the wants of gold finders (who produce nothing to eat, drink, or wear), has stimulated the industry of the world, causing an increase of productions far beyond any thing ever before known, and it is beginning to be thing ever before known, and it is beginning to be seen that this great increase creates a corresponding demand for the moving power—currency—or money—for if that is insufficient everything goes hard.

We will give two instances of this increased production. The foreign trade (import and export) of France in 1852 was, in round numbers, $600,000,000; in 1855, $860,000,000, an increase in three years of more than 40 per cent. The foreign trade of the United States in 1852 was $420,00,000; in 1856, $642,000,000—an increase in four years of more than 50 per cent. Taking these statistics as indices of the increased trade of all nations, it will be seen that the increased trade of all nations, it will be seen that the increased demand upon the moving power—currency—has been enormous. Still the increase of currency has probably corresponded to the increase of regular trade, and if there had been nothing but the regular business of production to meet consumption going on, the currency would have proved sufficient to make business affairs work easily.

But an additional weight has been placed upon this motive power during these four years in Eu-

But an additional weight has been placed upon this motive power during these four years in Europe, the United States, and even in India, by vast projects of internal improvements—mainly railroads—which is taxing its ability with great severity, and beyond any former precedent, from such or similar projects. A few weeks ago, it appeared as if there would be a crash—especially in France—but the dangerous point seems to have been passed in safety, and the indications now are that money is getting more abundant, both in France and Eugland, while the alarm created here by threatening appearances abroad is rapidly subsiding.

This slight review of what is going on in the world is quite sufficient to show why the great gold production of the past four years has not caused a redundant currency, and why it will not do so for years to come, if ever.—Boston Journal.

RATTLESNAKE—Cure for the Bite.—Having heard that rattlesnakes and other venomous reptiles exist in numbers in this country, and that several persons have been bitten by them, I am induced to make known a very simple cure. If the person bitten will, as soon as possible, make a strong common ley, saturate a rag with it and lay it upon the wound, renewing the application some 10 or 15 minutes, or as the rag dries, it will perform a perfect cure in a short time. I have tried this remedy id several cases/where persons were bitten by copper snakes, and neverknew it to fail. Among others who were cured by me I would mention Mr. Nelson Stewart's wife, who was bit by a copperhead. Mr. Cornelius Long was also cured by this remedy. It will also cure the sting or bite of any poisonous insect.

New Church for the Rev. Dudley A. Tyng.—A portion of his former congregation, and others, are about to erect a new church for the Rev. Dudley A. Tyng, and over $20,000 have already been subscribed. The committee who have the matter in charge are confident that the required amount will soon be realized. This congregation is a portion of that lately under Mr. T. in the Church of the Epiphany, Chestnut and Seventh streets, from which he was dismissed in consequence of preaching a sermon on the extension of slavery.—Phila. Richard L. Wilson, senior editor and founder of the Chicago Journal, died at Albany, N. Y., on Tuesday last. Mr. Wilson was an able writer and was highly esteemed. He was postmaster at Chicago during Gen. Taylor's administration.

FEMALE LOBBY MEMBERS .- The Herald's Washington correspondent says:

Female Lobby Members.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says:

In classifying the lobby members of Congress, the female representatives of the "third house" occapy he unimportant position. Indeed, I may say that one experienced female lobby is is equal in point of influence to any three schemers of the other sex with whom I am acquainted. Every session draws to Washington a number of these feminine birds of passage, as well as prey, and you will find their names at Willard's, Brown's, the National, or wherever members most do congregate; and not a great measure comes before Congress that they do not have an important, if not a conspicuous, "finger in the ji." Their interest is secured for all schemes, private and public, for lobbying-through private bills and public acts, for the extension of a patent, or the granting of an indefinite number of acres of public lands for private spacelative purposes. Woman's influence has often secured the attendance of a member when his vote was sure and needed, and her fascinations have been exerted when it was necessary that an opposition vote should be absent from the House. Many a poor member has braved the censure of his constituent and neglected his duty for the poor recompense of an hour's tete-a-tete with and an empty smile from a pretty, persevering, fast, and fascinating woman. Besure the female lobby member she had an empty smile from a pretty, persevering, fast, and fascinating woman. Besure the female lobby member which affords her a stage to actupon.

The female lobby member is of no particular age. Age is not a consideration; but she must have tact, talent, and a thorough contempt for the conventionalities of society. She must be easy, affable, and accommodating in her disposition, and it matters not whether she be sweet sixten "or fat, fair, and forty." a maid, wife, or widow. Sometimes the female lobby member is a strong-minded woman, an advocate for woman's rights; again, she is a literary celebrity, a poetes, perhaps, or a tyro in literature, whose incipi

THE INQUISITIVE YANKEE.—The following "new dition with improvements" of an old anecdote is dition with improvements' exceedingly rich

A gentleman riding in an Eastern railroad car, which was rather scantily supplied with passengers, observed in a seat before him a lean, slab-sided Yankee; every feature of his face seemed to ask a question, and a little circumstance soon proved that he possessed a more "inquiring mind." Before him, occupying the entire seat, sat a lady dressed in deep black, and, after shifting his position several times and manœuvreing to get an opportunity to look into her face, he at length caught her eye: "In affliction?"

"Yes, sir," responded the lady.
"Pa-rant—father or mother?"

"No, sir."
"Child, perhaps?—boy or girl?"
"Child, perhaps?—boy or girl?"
"No, sir, not a child; I have no children."

"Yes," was the curt answer.
"Hum!—cholery?—a tradin' man, may be?" "My husband was a sea-faring man—the captain of a vessel; he didn't die of cholera, he was drowned, eh?" pursued the inquisitor, hesiating for a brief instant.

"Save his chist?" "Yes, the vessel was saved, and my husband's fects," said the widow.
"Was they?" asked the Yankee, his eyes brightning up.

"Don't you think you have a great cause to be chist?"

"I do," said the widow, abruptly, and turned her head to look out of the window. The indefatigable "pump" changed his position, held the widow by his glittering eye once mere, and propounded one more query, in a little lower tone, with his head slightly inclined forward over the back of the seat, "Was you calculating to get married again?"

"Was you calculating to get married again?"
"Sir," said the widow indignantly, "you are impertinent!" And she left her seat and took another on the other side of the ear.
"Pears to be a little huffy," said the ineffable bore, turning to our narrator behind him; "she needn't be mad; I don't want to hurt her feelings.
What did they make you say for their unbrable. What did they make you pay for that umbrella you've got in your hand? It's a real pooty one."

EXTENSIVE FORGERIES IN PIKE.—We learn from the Warsaw papers that N. N. Olin, of Pike, has failed for a large sum, and that forgeries to the amount of $60,000 have been discovered. He was regarded as a man of integrity, and the discovery of his rascality created almost a panic. The War-saw Mirror says: The recent failure of Mr. Olin, of Pike, is the most astounding that ever occurred in this section of country. As compared with the means—the capital in their possession and the amount of business they were doing, this exceeds the forgeries of Schuyler and Huntington. The amount of his forgeries is unknown, but it is scores of thousands of dollars, at least. His affairs have been embarrassed for a sories of verys. Still he been embarrassed for a series of years. Still he has rushed headlong into debt, with a recklessness amounting to infatuation. He was a member of the Methodist Church, and

He was a member of the Methodist Church, and seemed to possess the entire confidence of the community, and men in straitened circumstances had let him have all their available money, and in that way he has dragged a number down with him. The forged paper was used mostly at the banks of Lancaster, Perry, and Attica, and to purchase goods in New York.

All letters of protest from the various banks, sent An letters of protest from the various banks, set to these endorsers in Pike, were taken from the office by Olin, he telling the postmaster that he wished to explain to them the means he had for arranging the matter. In this way the matter has been kept secret some time. His financial operations, taken together, rarely have a parallel. We understand he is quite unwell.—Rochester Democrat.

IMPORTANT FASHIONABLE INTERLIGENCE—Steel Hoops vs. Crinolines.—The age of crinolines is over, and steel takes the place of grass, and straw, and whalebone, horse-hair, &c. We are happy to announce to our lady readers, who have for the last month been in despair at being obliged to pay $15 to a fashionable milliner for steel-skirts, made in Paris, that the same article is now made and sold here for $3, at Stewart's.

But alas! for us poor men, our "rights" are now more than ever to be encroached upon, as steel is more unvielding than whalebone or horse-hair. There is thus to be less room for us at balls, soirees, in omnibuses, &c. One advantage, however, husbands and brothers have from the substitution, and that is in the price. Another advantage is, and that IMPORTANT FASHIONABLE INTERLIGENCE -Steel that is in the price. Another advantage is, and that we only whisper, that these steel hoops can be, and often are to be reefed, by the use of hooks and eyes, so that they can be taken in or let out, as the wearer wills.—N. Y. Express.

Mail Robbery.—Another arrest for mail robberry took place at Florence, Oneida county, in this State, on Saturday last. The unfortunate victim in this instance is John C. Stanford, a man about sixty years of age, and for some time past an acting magistrate in that town. This arrest is supposed to account for a good deal of trouble and loss to which the people in that region have been subjected in their connection with the mails. Owing to the age and standing of Mr. Stanford, no suspicions seem to have attached to him, but it has again proved true that "murder will out;" and, if reports are correct, justice has at last overtaken an offender who ought to have known and probably did know better. Stanford, we are informed, was examined yesterday at Utica, and committed for want of bail, the proof being of the most positive character.

THE KELLER TROUPE. - This celebrated vill appear at Mozart Hall on Monday evening. We have never seen them, but, from the encomiums bestowed on them by the Eastern papers, their entertainments are worth seeing. They performed in Washington in October last, and the National Intelligencer spoke of them in the following complimen-

Applause of the heartiest character was yielded to the ex-quisitely arranged and effective tableaux, and, notwith-standing the great increase of muscular exertion and ten-sion sustained by the individual figures, they were cheer-fully repeated. Certainly nothing approaching them has ever before been seen in Washington, and they are free from all impropriety.

The American Organ, of the same city, observes: The American Organ, of the same city, observes:
Keller's Troupe made their appearance at the National Theater lust evening (Oct. 7) to a very large audience, whose unqualified admiration most effectually set at rest the doubts expressed by many of the purity of the entertainment. Nothing so truly beautiful and grand has everbeen presented in our city, and the vehement enthusiasm with which a repetition of each tableau was imperatively demanded most fully attested their earnest and active attractiveness. The term tableau scarcely expresses the truenature of the representations, which are in fact living illustrations of the more notable works of statusry and painting—so exquisitely grouped and gracefully embodied that it trills with immediate effect our intale love for the beautiful, and to the cold, and to the majority of our readers, meaninglesse technicalities of art—expression, harmony, light and shade, and emotion become realities, recognised and applauded by the intuition of taste.

LATEST NEWS.

BAROMETER. Last night, 12 o'clock : To-day, 12 o'clock. 29.48. : 29.83.

A MYSTERIOUS AND TRAGIC AFPAIR—SUSPECTED MURDER, ARSON, AND ROBBERY .- A very mysterious and tragic occurrence is said to have taken place on Thursday night last, about 1 o'clock A. M., on Briar creek, near the line of Bullitt and Jefferson

The dwelling house of Mrs. Joyce, about fifteen miles from Louisville, was destroyed by fire. Amid the ruins have been discovered the remains of Mrs. Joyce, a very old lady, her widowed daughter, Mrs. Welch, one of her sons, and a child of Mrs. Welch. These were all the inmates of the house at the time. Another son of Mrs. Joyce was absent at a wedding some ten miles distant.

From the facts that this one of the young Joyces had just returned from the South with a thousand dollars in money which he had left in the house, and that the remains of Mrs. Joyce and her family were found in positions indicating that they had made no effort to escape, it is suspected that they were murdered and the house set on fire to conceal the crime.

The David White .- This splendid steamer was detained by the storm and did not reach here till noon to-day. We are indebted to Mr. Mitchell for copies of the manifest and memorandum and a New Orleans paper of the 13th. The White will not leave till Monday.

THE FAIR AT THE UNION ENGINE HOUSE,-The ladies attached to the Ladies' Benevolent Society are holding a fair at the Union Engine House. The object of the fair is to raise a fund for the charitable purposes of the Society. We have often been told that "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord," and this enterprise appeals loudly and meritoriously to the benevolence of our city. An opportunity is thus afforded them to derive actual and immediate profit and amusement from the bread cast upon the waters. The Hall is nightly crowded with charming ladies, whose bright eyes and winsome ways add greatly to the attractions of the Fair. For the gratification of those who love to tread a merry measure, the entertainment is concluded every evening with a cotillon party. All who wish to find real social pleasure while they are contributing to a noble purpose should be sure to visit the Fair.

A HOAX .- The good people of Franklin, Indiana, have been most egregiously imposed upon. The Republican, printed in that place, of Friday last, says that a woman, who calls herself Madame Helen Sasha, had arrived there from Jackson, Miss., who states that she had resided in that place for eight years; M. Sasha, her hushand, having avowed his partiality for Fremont for President, was waited upon by a deputation of men, who informed him that he must cease propagating his principles, which he declined to do. One of the men then took hold of him, when M. Sasha knocked him down, and was shot down by one Orbray. She received notice to leave forthwith. The woman had a recommendation to a citizen of Franklin, and a subscription was made up for her to reach her parents in New York. We receive papers from Jackson and other parts of Mississippi, and have not seen any such occurrence mentioned in them. We believe the whole story is false.

LOUISIANA INTELLIGENCE.-The Donaldsonville Vigilant of the 12th says:

Most of the planters in the neighborhood of this place have finished grinding. We have not heard full specific returns of the quantity of sugar made, but from assurances which greet us from every quarter, we venture to say that the average yield will not exceed, if it amont to one quarter of the ordinary crop.

the average yield will not exceed, it is amont to one quarter of the ordinary crop.

On the large plantations, where great quantities of the plant cane were put in, the yield will be somewhat larger. As far as we can hear, the following is an approximation to the quantity which will be made on some of the largest plantations Col. J. S. Preston (two sugar-houses), 900 hogsheads; Henry Doyal, 500 (550 on his home place, and about 150 on the Hard Times plantation); Estate of Gen. Trist, 250; Duncan F. Kenner, 300; J. S. Miner, 100; Tras. Landry (two plantation), 350.

These figures may fall below or exceed the actual numbers; but we feel convinced the difference will not be very great.

An acquaintance, from the adjoining parish of Assumption, informed us, a day or two ago, that a plot of the slaves in that section had been discovered, which, if it had been completed, would have produced the most disastrous results.

The Tehuantepec Road.—By a private letter from the Coatzacoalcos, dated 22d November, we learn that the work on the wheel road was progressing finely, and that the communication from the Chevella pass to the Pacific was already open. Also, that the laborers on the Pacific side were working their way toward the Atlantic to meet those engaged on that end of the work. The contractors confidently expected to finish the road in forty days from that time.—N. O. Pic., Dec. 1.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR .--- The great and principal characteristics of DALLEY'S MAGI CAL PAIN EXTRACTOR consists 1st. Of its never-failing and unique property, as soon a applied to any external injury, TO CHECK INFLAMMATION instantly, and rapidly to reduce it. This feature constitutes its great power to alleviate the pain of burns and scalds, and other painful diseases, in so incredibly short a space of time, and as will appear from the few testimonials here, unto annexed. Every intelligent mind is fully aware that in all cases of external injury, the pain is produced by inflammation of the injured parts; and, therefore, if you remove the cause, the effect must cease.

2d. Its purificative qualities neutralize the poison that may lurk in the system, and will, when applied to the sores draw rapidly all impure matter to the surface, and eject it-hence the great discharge it produces from sores occasioned by burns—and when applied to old and inveterate sores.
